Birthday Party.

Celebrating her eighth birthday, Miss Elizabeth Sawyer entertained a number of her friends at a party yesterday afternoon at her home on the Poniel road. A color scheme of yellow and white was effectively used in decoration, daisies and ferns being attractively combined with streamers of white and yellow crepe paper. This color motif was used wherever possible throughout the appointments of the pretty affair.

A feature of the early part of the afternoon was the peanut hunt. Arthur Hoprich and Jim Spencer were fortunate little folks finding the peanuts and were given the package of marbles for Jim. After the peanut hunt a variety of the games dear to childish hearts were played on the lawn. Toward the close of the afternoon, the young people were served delicious ice cream, cake and candies. The big birthday cake, which centered the lightly decorated table, was led in and carried eight pretty yellow candles.

The small hostess was assisted in entertaining her guests by her mother, Mrs. Ralph Sawyer, and by Mrs. John Hodge and Mrs. R. E. Eville. The small friends present were: Nannie Wilkinson, Ola Deane Vickers, Elsie Williams, Marie Ginn, Clarice Miller, Rebecca Whitthorne, Elsie Miller, Warrenna Cuddedge, Marguerite Beggs, Douglas Hodge, Billy Graham, Garland and Vernon McLauren, David and Daniel Price, P. K. and John Brown, James and Marshall Bremer, Dorothy and Michael Murphy, Arvilla and Marguerite Hoprich and Mary Sawyer.

Wilkinson Hostess to Club.

A pleasant informal social gathering of yesterday was the meeting of the Weekly Auction club, which took place at the home on North Second street of Mrs. Ridley R. Wilkinson. Mrs. Wilkinson had arranged two tables for her guests in the living room, the tables were charmingly placed to give every guest an advantage. Pivot auction was enjoyed, scores being kept on attentive tallies. When compared at the conclusion of the series of rubbers, it was found that that Mrs. J.

C. Calhoun and Mrs. J. G. Spencer held high at their respective tables, and as prizes Mrs. Wilkinson presented them with auction score pads in novel bindings.

Refreshing ginger ale punch was enjoyed during the early part of the afternoon, and after the game Mrs. Wilkinson served delicious ice cream and chocolate cake to her guests, who were Mesdames J. V. Walton, J. C. Calhoun, J. K. Culbreth, E. W. Neate, H. A. Johnson, E. Perry Ross, J. G. Spencer, and Goode M. Guerry.

The Screen

Ralph Connor's Great Story
"Corporal Cameron" at Grand.
"Corporal Cameron," the great story of the Northwest, written by Ralph Connor has been dramatized for the screen under the title of "Cameron of the Royal Mounted." It comes to the Grand tomorrow. The author, known the world over for his works such as "Black Rock," "The Sky Pilot," unconsciously laid out one of the greatest screen stories ever written, when he wrote the tale of the young Scotch lad, ready to graduate from school, who, because of a moment's hesitation and weakness, endured hardships altogether unnecessary for one of his birthright. But it made a thorough man of him, made him at last, one of the envied mounted police, Canada's "Royal Mounted." It has scenic value, love interest, is commendably acted and will be most gratifying to lovers of Canada, as well as followers of stories of the rugged, brave and thoroughly manly "Police."

ON DEATH OF MR. RILES

(From Bradentown Journal.)
W. L. Riles, one of the most highly respected citizens of Bradentown, died very suddenly Sunday evening, the cause of death being heart failure. He had been sick for some time and they were getting ready to remove him to a hospital for treatment. The ambulance was waiting at the door and he was getting ready to leave when he staggered and fell, dying almost immediately. As he fell Mrs. Riles caught him and broke the fall and he expired in her arms. His death was a great shock to all the people of Bradentown, as he had lived here for many years and had been identified with the business interests of the city, being the "eldest jeweler in Bradentown." He had been in the jewelry business for more than 20 years, discontinuing active work only a few months ago on account of his sickness.

Chats With Your Gas Man

Sometimes you buy more meat than you need and some of it is wasted, but you do not get angry with your butcher for selling it. Or, you purchase more fruit or vegetables than you can possibly use, but you do not complain to your grocer. If you throw away a little coal with the ashes, you do not blame the coal man. You leave the refrigerator open and waste the ice, but you do not quarrel with the ice wagon driver.

Of course not!

But sometimes when people carelessly waste gas, they blame the gas company. Neither merchants nor a gas company can control the use you make of a commodity.

Your gas company, however, while urging you to use gas, begs you not to waste it.

Part of its service is to give you full value, and to see that you pay only for what you use and to use all that you pay for.
